

The information and input on this and all associated drafting or paperwork are representations of a fictional construct in an established environment (Patricia Carbett Theatre at the University of Cincinnati). The plot does not claim to represent accurate architectural information of the space or environment and should not be used to confirm any safety concerns or information. All aspects of this design will be superseded by safety standards and applicable state and federal law. The designer claims no responsibility in ensuring the safety of this designs installation and cannot be held accountable for any hazards which occur or safety violations that result in the creation of this theatrical design. This design is intended as a conceptual tool for discussion purposes only. No liability shall be assumed or indemnified Over Litterton and all assistants and workers associated with his design team from any responsibility related to accidents or safety violations which occur in the process of design implementation.

FILE REF:: Lighting Plot Prelim 4